Captain W. L. Howard, commandant of the navy yard, is working with the navy department on plans by which the old naval hospital will be utilized for quarters for the naval reserve corps. Captain Howard requested the necessary appropriation for making the building ready which has practically been granted. In connection with the hospital, the navy department will establish a camp on the grounds surrounding the hospital where the reserve corps will be trained. Many of them will also be quartered on the U. S. S. Southery and trained in boat handling in the back channel.

London, April 6.—Advices from Rio Janeiro indicate that Brazil may declare war as the result of the sinking of the Brazilian steamer Prana, transmitted by the Exchange Consul at Buenos Aires. The Brazilian Foreign Minister said the situation was grave and might cause that country to engage in war with Germany.

Cherbourg, France, April 6.—The Brazilian steamer Prana, 4061 tons, was sunk by a German submarine during the night.

SUBMARINE REPORTED IN GULF OF MEXICO

Information Reaches Government From Reliable Source.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 6.—Persistent but unconfirmed reports have been to the effect that German submarines were waiting in the Gulf of Mexico in the event of war between the United States and Germany. This was confirmed today by a neutral country that has served for some time as a clearing house for German news. It was reported that more than a score of German submarines were in Mexican waters and were supplied from a shore base.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 6.—President Wilson today signed a declaration of war as existing between the United States and Germany.

The war resolution was signed at 1.11 o'clock this afternoon. In the proclamation he calls upon all citizens to aid in sustaining the government.

By the signing of this resolution the war that has existed for several months between Germany and the United States, is recognized in official form.

Speaker Clark had signed the resolution soon after it was passed by the House this morning and later it was brought to Vice President Marshall, who affixed his signature.

The engrossed copy was then sent to the President, who had just returned from a walk with Mrs. Wilson, and he signed the declaration.

Immediately following the signing of the resolution the navy department wirelessly and telegraphed to the various naval stations the following message:

"The President has signed an act of Congress which declares that a state of war exists with Germany."

Washington, April 6.—The House of Representatives at an early hour this morning passed President Wilson's war resolution by a vote of 373 to 50. This action will set going the great wheels of the military and economic forces of the country in an aggressive war.

The resolution passed the house after 17 hours of continuous debate, and 32 Republicans, 16 Democrats, 1 Socialist and 1 Prohibitionist voted against the measure.

Voting in the affirmative were 153 Democrats, 177 Republicans, 2 Progressives and 1 Independent.

Democratic Leader Kitchin and Miss Rankin, the only woman representative, voted in the negative. After failing to answer to her name twice during the second roll call, she arose to her feet and in a sobbing voice said: "I want to stand by my country, but I cannot vote for war." She stood supporting herself by leaning against a desk and then she collapsed into the seat. Jerry Smith, chief clerk, went to her seat and she was recorded in the negative.

ONION SOLD FOR $300

(By Associated Press)
London, March 6.—Lord Saye and Sele, holder of one of the oldest and proudest titles in England, set a record as an auctioneer at a Red Cross sale in Banbury when he induced buyers to bid up an ordinary onion to $300, at which price it was finally knocked down to an imprudent "graduate" of society men and women. The onion brought the highest price of any article sold that day.

WAR MEASURE PASSED HOUSE

Democratic House Leaders Take Stand Against President and Lead Fight in Opposition to the Declaration of War.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 5, 3:15 a. m.—The House of Representatives this morning passed the resolution already passed by the Senate, declaring that a state of war exists with Germany and this country. An amendment offered by Representative McCullough, that no militia unit should be sent to Europe, was killed. Representative Britten's resolution proposing that no military force of any nature should be sent to Europe, Asia or Africa, except they specifically volunteer for this service, was also opposed. The vote was 373 to 50.

The President will sign the resolution, which declares war, as soon as Vice President Marshall has placed his signature to the Senate Resolution.

The House immediately took up the discussion of raising an army.

Washington, April 5, 12:00 midnight.—In the House of Representatives all day and far into the night, the discussion of the proposed declaration of war with Germany was fought. It was indicated that the vote could not be taken until late in the morning. A resolution introduced to take the vote before midnight as some of the members objected to voting on Good Friday, was lost early in the evening. There was at no time any doubt but that the resolution would be passed by a large majority with a strong minority opposed to war at this time.

The debate was marked by little enthusiasm for the most part, few in the galleries or the floor showing any interest in the discussion. Early in the afternoon it was learned that Democratic House Leader Kitchin, of North Carolina, intended to oppose the resolution. Democrats in the House, on visiting his office found him with his speech nearly completed. At 2:00 o'clock he came to the floor of the House and delivered a dramatic speech as to why he could not conscientiously vote for war, or support the cause of the war.

Britten of Illinois offered an amendment intended to prevent the sending of an army to Europe, Asia or Africa in aid of the Allies against Germany unless it was a volunteer force. Representative Flood of Virginia proposed that the House vote before 12:00 o'clock. This was opposed by members of the House on both sides, despite the fact that many were opposed to taking a vote on Good Friday.

Kitchin's opposition to the resolution drew numbers who were half heartedly opposed to the move, into the fight against the bill. Many of the members who had remained glum in the rear of the House came forward after Kitchin had concluded and spoke against the bill.

The opposition by Kitchin came as a complete surprise as he had been expected to lead the fight for the financing of the war and he had been frequently consulted on the financial phase of the question since the convening of Congress on Monday. The opposition to the resolution by Kitchin has lost him much prestige among the members of his party, and may cost him the leadership of the House. Democrats, cheered by his act, jumped with new vim into the fight against the passing of the declaration.

Spoke in the Afternoon
At 3:00 o'clock this afternoon Kitchin announced publicly that he would speak in opposition to the measure. He asserted that he could not conscientiously vote for war against his best judgment and that he was prepared to walk this path if he must do it bare foot and alone. "There has been no invasion of the United States," he declared.

tory, occupied, no vital right infringed. The action of Germany is not against the United States," he said. "We are not supposed to join Great Britain or France in their fight against Germany right or wrong."

Representative Rogers of Massachusetts, took Kitchin to task for his unpatriotic attitude. He cited numerous instances where the vital rights of America had been infringed by Germany. He said that 226 American lives had been lost by the action of Germany in her submarine war.

Representative Heflin of Alabama, Democrat, also criticized Kitchin. He said that Kitchin should resign from Congress if he could not vote for this resolution. This statement was met by hisses from the gallery and the floor. Heflin said that Kitchin was representing the German Emperor.

Representative Barnett of Alabama, fellow member of Heflin, spoke against his arraignment of Kitchin. He called upon Heflin to state if he would resign from the House and volunteer for the war. Heflin said that he would. His statement was received with applause by the gallery and the floor.

East Andover, N. H., April 5.—Four years ago Ex-Gov. Nahum J. Bacheelder began renovating 75 old apple trees on his farm. They had been set out about 50 years and seemed almost worthless. By proper care in pruning, spraying and fertilizing, the trees have borne a profitable crop each year since.

Last year's crop was placed in cold storage and was today sold for $5 a barrel, netting Mr. Bacheelder $700 over cost of freight, storage and commission.

DETECTIVE W. J. BURNS AIDS IN "THE ARGYLE CASE."

Detective methods of the most scientific and modern sort play such an important part in "The Argyle Case," in which Robert Warwick will make his first appearance as a Seznick-Pictures star, that it was considered advisable to obtain the best technical advice possible, so that the picture might be perfect in every detail. William J. Burns, the internationally famous detective, was consulted by Harvey J. O'Higgins and Harriet Ford, when they wrote the original play, and he consented to act in a similar capacity of adviser to Robert Warwick. He made several visits to the Seznick Studio when the important scenes were being photographed, and as a consequence "The Argyle Case" is the first detective film which will stand the closest scrutiny.

There has been scarcely one important criminal case of national note in the last fifteen years in which Detective Burns has not played a leading role. The deeds which writers of fiction attribute to such mythical personages as Sherlock Holmes and M. Lecq have been paralleled by Burns in actual practice. Coming to the fore first in the Heywood-Meyer-Pettibone trial, he has been in the limelight ever since.

Burns was the first to use the dictograph to obtain evidence from the criminals themselves direct. He invented the "Prepared Witness" by means of which finer prints could be obtained without arousing the suspicions of the subject. With a trick pen, the fingers of the subject are smeared with ink, and in a moment the evidence of identity is recorded. Both of these important devices of the modern detective are employed in "The Argyle Case," exactly as Detective Burns has used them in many of his big cases.

"The Argyle Case," starring Robert Warwick, will be presented today at the Colonial Theatre.

AMERICAN LINER MISSOURIAN SUNK WITHOUT WARNING

Unarmed Vessel Left Genoa, on Wednesday—Thirty —Seven Americans in Crew of Fifty-One—All of Crew Saved

Washington, April 5.—Sinking without warning of the unarmed American steamer Missouri, which left Genoa, April 4, with thirty-two Americans among her crew of fifty-three, was reported to the State Department today by Consul General Wilbur at Genoa. All in the crew were saved.

The vessel was of 7914 tons gross, was built in 1904 at Sparrows Point, Md., and was first named the Missouri. For many years she was engaged in New York-Panama trade, and was transferred to the Atlantic trade shortly after the beginning of the European war. She was for a time in the service of the United States Government having been taken over as a transport shortly after General Funston was sent to Vera Cruz in 1914.

The Missouri, owned by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Line, left New York March 3 for Italian ports.

The ship carried on her outward voyage a general cargo. She was commanded by Captain William Lyons and carried a crew of fifty-one men, of whom thirty-seven were American citizens, according to the shipping records.

Consul Wilbur's despatch, undated, follows: "Unarmed American steamer Missouri, 4081 net tonnage, Master William Lyons, built Sparrows Point, Md., owners, American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, 53 crew, including masters and officers, 32 Americans, balance various nationalities, sailing from Genoa April 4, bound for United States according to telegram just received from master, sunk without warning. The telegram was as follows: "Torre Rico, Madeira, fifth, sunk without warning, crew saved. Leave for Genoa 7 p. m. Signed, Lyons."

PORTSMOUTH-KITTERY BRIDGE BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Concord, April 5.—The house of representatives this morning under a suspension of the rules passed House Joint Resolution No. 1, appointing a commission to act with a similar commission from the state of Maine to recommend to the legislature of 1917 a definite proposition for an interstate state highway or free bridge between Portsmouth, N. H., and Kittery, Me., was passed and has gone to the Senate. This is known as the Bartlett bill.

The commission named in the bill will meet with a similar commission appointed under the bill lately passed by the Maine legislature to discuss plans and recommend legislation to be presented in the General Court of 1919.

Nine Bills and Resolutions Returned

Nine bills and joint resolutions were returned to the house today from the committee on appropriations with the recommendation that it was inexpedient to legislate. One of them related to the establishing of a state police force and another to prevent the sale of diseased meat slaughtered within the state.

House Bill No. 520, an act conferring further jurisdiction upon the public service commission relating to railroad rates and fares reported favorably by the railroad committee was made a special order for next Tuesday morning.

No Action on Lewis Bill

The Senate Committee on Revision of Bills was again occupied throughout the day with hearings of House Bill 444, the so-called Lewis bill, passed by the House last week, to repeal the present existing liquor license law. It was stated yesterday that this committee would likely make a report this afternoon but it is now believed that no report can be made before Wednesday of next week.

It is probable that two reports will be submitted to the Senate by the committee, a majority report recommending that it is inexpedient to legislate and a minority report that the bill pass.

THREE BILLIONS NEEDED FOR CARRYING ON WAR

Washington, April 5.—Congress will be asked to appropriate the sum of $3,502,517,000 for the purpose of carrying on the war against the Imperial German Government as soon as the House passes the resolution making the declaration of war complete. This sum will be divided up among the various branches of the service as follows:

War Department—$2,552,537,933.
Navy Department, to increase enlistment to 150,000, and marine corps 130,000 men—$175,555,762.

Other sums to the navy department and for revenue to be placed at the disposal and discretion of the president—$202,638,750.

Coast Guard, for telegraphic communication to make the protection of the coast a certainty against surprise—$500,000.

This sum will be raised by a bond issue, increased taxation on large estates, large incomes, whiskey, beer, tobacco, and other commodities.

The banks of the Federal Reserve banks are in a position to absorb at least $2,000,000,000 of this whole amount at an interest of not more than 1 1/2 per cent.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

EAT LESS MEAT IF YOU FEEL
BACKACHE OR HAVE BLADDER TROUBLE

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acid waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

HAVE OFFERED SERVICES TO GOVERNMENT

PORTSMOUTH DENTISTS WILL DO WORK FREE OF CHARGE FOR RECRUITS OF THE SEVERAL BRANCHES OF THE WAR

At a meeting of the Portsmouth Dentists, fourteen in number, held at the office of Dr. B. C. Plaisdel on Thursday afternoon it was voted that each dentist in the city devote one afternoon of each week for the work of helping the teeth of recruits for the army and navy, and the national guard. In addition to allow them to make the necessary examinations for enlistment. The several dentists will give different afternoons to this work so that two or more will be available on each afternoon.

The list of afterwards that the different dentists are giving to this work will be mailed to the surgeon of the army post for the Portsmouth district, the recruiting officers of the army, navy and national guard, and others in authority. This is done to prevent fraud and the recruit will be given credentials by the officer which will be accepted by the dentists. The work will be done free of charge by the dentists in the spirit of patriotism.

RUSSIANS JOIN BRITISH FORCE AGAINST TURKS

ARTILLERY FIGHTING ONLY IN
ST. QUENTIN REGION—RHEI-
MES UNDER HEAVY BOM-BARDMENT FROM THE GERMANS

German and French forces are engaged in sanguinary fighting about Rheims, the Germans making several heavy massed attacks from the north west on a front one and one-half miles long. Conflicting statements from the British and French War offices leave the result of the fighting in doubt. Reports from the French war office say that their forces have occupied first line trenches of the Germans, while British reports say that all French advances were repulsed and that many prisoners had been captured.

A report from Berlin, by way of London, says that the German forces had inflicted severe reverses on the army under General Neuville, taking more than 300 prisoners.

Only artillery fighting is taking place in the St. Quentin region although the British report having captured two more important villages from the northwest. A large number of German troops were killed and wounded after becoming entangled in their own wire entanglements, the British opening on them with machine gun fire.

The most important action has been accomplished by the British troops in moving from Persia and meeting the British forces coming from Baghdad, at Khankhan, Kasseleh, in Mesopotamia. All Persia is now cleared for Turkish troops.

PLAN HUGE FLEET OF ARMED SHIPS FOR TRADING

New York, April 5.—The plans of the federal shipping board for the construction of small wooden merchant ships to nullify the German submarine menace, call for a monster and practically unending fleet of these vessels, to be turned out eventually at the rate of 200,000 tons a month. They will comprise America's first contribution, aside from the navy's assistance, toward the war. The vessels will be armed for offense and defense, and manned by American sailors and gunners.

SOCIALISTS PLAN MIGHTY PROTEST AGAINST WAR

WILL MEET TODAY IN ST. LOUIS
IN HASTILY CALLED CON-VENTION.

St. Louis, April 5.—A mighty protest against the participation of the United States in the war will be the first action of the hastily called national Socialist convention meeting here today.

Although the convention was originally scheduled for September, in view of the perilous international situation it was convened at once in order to go on record as opposing any hostile move by the United States.

From every part of the country delegates will gather at the Planners' Hotel to take part in the protest. More than 200 credentialled delegates will represent the different sections of the country.

"Probably the first action of the convention will be a strong resolution of protest against any course that would bring the United States into the war," said Adolph Geimer, national secretary of the Socialist party.

"Of course, war, except to repel an actual invasion, is contrary to the principles of the Socialist party. We condemn entrance into the war upon the present grounds. A resolution will be adopted and then submitted to a referendum vote of the entire party."

We moved our convention date ahead five months because of the war cloud. We want to get our stand on record."

At the convention a revision of the platform of the national party will be attempted and the next campaign map laid out.

The meeting is expected to continue for one week.

MORE ACTION BY GERMANY IN MEXICO

Washington, April 5.—Representative Miller of Minnesota, Republican member of the foreign affairs committee, sprung a sensation during the discussion of the war resolution in the house today by declaring that an unpublished paragraph of the "Zimmermann note" offered to establish a submarine base in a Mexican port, supply Mexico with unlimited quantities of arms and ammunition and send German reservists in the United States to Mexico.

RECKLESS FEATS OF DARING

London, April 5.—One of the most reckless feats of daring reported during the war is recorded in a list of military awards just issued. Private Daniel Hall, who won the Distinguished Conduct Medal, put his hand over the muzzle of a trench mortar as it was fired in order to prevent the shell from hitting a man who had inadvertently stepped in front of the gun. The same list mentions awards to six men who picked up live shells and threw them over the parapet.

WORKMAN CURSES UNITED STATES AND LOSES JOB

REPORT OF FELLOW WORKMAN TO FOREMAN OF PLANT
BROUGHT QUICK ACTION.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., April 5.—E. J. King, former employee of the E. & T. Fairbanks Company was a good workman but when, in an argument with another workman over the declaration of war against Germany and the possibility of sending an American army across to help the allies, he saw fit to curse the United States and express the hope that "the Germans will sink every—blankety—blankie American soldier," he got into serious trouble.

Leuter Crafts, a fellow-workman, overheard the expressed wish. He walked up to King and told him that unless he was out of the shop for good and all by noon, he, King, would be in for a good licking. The foreman of the shop took the matter up, and as King muttered something even worse, Crafts swung a back-handed blow to King's mouth.

The foreman went to the main office and told of the trouble. King was called in and continued to express his views. He was told to leave the plant and all so.

The Cost of War.

The country now faces war. No one knows how long it will last nor is it possible to estimate the tremendous cost. At present it is felt that not many American lives will be sacrificed, but, so far as this country's participation is concerned, we are just at the beginning and it is impossible to tell when or what the end will be.

It is the present view that it will be the part of the United States to stand behind the allies and reinforce them with money and materials, but if the time comes when an army from this country is needed on foreign soil it will undoubtedly be supplied. Having cast in her lot with the nations that are battling against the desperate German empire and her allies, which are menacing the liberty of the world, the United States will see the trouble through to the end, no matter what the cost. She has placed her hand to the plow and will not turn back.

Whatever may be in store for us in the way of sacrificing life, it is certain that the money cost will be enormous, and it is time the people should be preparing to face the music. And that they will do this without complaint it is safe to assume. The people are united in the conviction that the cause which has compelled the country to take up arms is just and are ready to do their full duty in every way in which they are called upon to act.

With these facts in mind the people should be prepared to face the mighty costs which are inevitable. Government expenditures caused by the war have already been heavy, but they are as a drop in the bucket compared with what is to come. Revenue must be raised in unprecedented amounts. The taxing power of the government will have to be freely exercised and there is reason to believe the people will bend cheerfully to the burden, which, heavy as it may be, will not be comparable to those that are being borne by the nations more closely involved in the gigantic struggle.

At such a time communities and individuals may well resort to every practicable economy. The country must act as a unit, expenditures which would ordinarily be appalling will be unavoidable, but the resources are here and it remains for those in control to make the best use of them, to the end that peace may be restored to the world and the clash of arms replaced by a reign of justice and righteousness.

Our Country and Our Duty In War.

War has been declared and now comes the test of your Americanism. The country is united and will go forward as a unit in saving the world from destruction by the mad men of Germany. This is a time also to stamp out petty politics and this newspaper will support every department of the government in a successful prosecution of the war. All hail to the Chief in this hour of peril—Our President, Woodrow Wilson. Let Portsmouth keep its traditions sacred and all our citizens do their full duty. There is no telling where the war will lead us, but we must be loyal and determined. The country must be preserved.

Governor McCall of Massachusetts has extended the congratulations of his state to the new government of Russia, which could not fail to be pleased and heartened by such a message from "the oldest commonwealth in the New World." The outlook for democracy throughout the world was never so bright as it is today.

The Chinese Tongs of Portland, Ore., who have been at war with each other for some time, have signed a truce for thirty days, and it is believed the cessation of hostilities will be permanent. Let it be hoped so. In the war line the country has bigger fish to fry just at present.

In addition to the men at the front and in the home guard the back-yard gardens will also need a strong guard, armed not with guns, but with spades, wheelbarrows and hoes. May there be no vacancies in the ranks of this important department of the service.

Ex-President Taft has returned from a trip through the South and Southwest, and he says the people there are all ready for war. And all are aware that there is good fighting blood in that part of the country.

It would be difficult to improve upon Senator Lodge's prescription for Bann wars.

Senator LaFollette is being roasted by the press from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Congresswoman Rankin did not have the nerve to do it.

Editorial Comment

The Man Without a Country

(From the Boston Transcript)

Robert Marion La Follette has been a member of the Senate of the United States since the year 1905. He has already served two terms there, and unfortunately was elected to and has now entered upon a third term. He will have to be endured in some form—endured now as an example of what not to be and do—until the year 1923. He has done his state and his country very little good in all the years of his public service, which began with his election to the lower branch of Congress in 1885. A man of radical and always disturbing views, very early and thoroughly imbued with the anarchistic teachings of the extreme wing of the German revolutionaries who migrated to Wisconsin in 1848, La Follette began his career as a young and eloquent crusader against what he and others regarded as public injustice in the administration of the laws. He had not been a member of the bar for one year when, in 1880, at the age of twenty-five, he was elected district attorney of Dane county, in which Madison, the capital of Wisconsin, is situated. This success aroused in him the keenest political ambitions, although his early studies and affiliations had tended to make of him an enemy of all government. By dint of his fiery and always denunciatory eloquence he succeeded in imposing himself on the strangely-mixed public in central Wisconsin as a young "tribune of the people." Once in Congress, his ambition became unbounded. He accepted the financial assistance of the millionaire Isaac Stephenson, who himself wished to go to the Senate in a deal to get the Sawyer-Spooner crowd out of political control in the state of Wisconsin, and by a bargain with Stephenson was elected to the Senate; his own election having been followed by Stephenson's two years afterward. But though Stephenson financed him, he afterward opposed this aged millionaire politician, as he opposed every one else.

Through the greater part of his first term in the Senate, La Follette may be said to have flourished like a green bay tree. He was a great talker—a master of that sort of vaporous declamation which takes with the crowd. His early extremism spoke in this contentiousness, though in his tendencies as a lawmaker he had now doffed the mantle of a reformer and turned to the side of state socialism. But with the taste of the blood of public power, he had become a personal tyrant, an unscrupulous seeker. One by one his supporters succumbed to him; they could do for him, were abandoned by him and abandoned him. Probably not one man in all Wisconsin today, of all those who made his early success, now adheres to him. But continually he has gone out and found amongst the rising generation who knew him only by his clamor, new supporters. By skill he divided the forces in opposition to him in 1910, and taking advantage of the rising tide of insurgency, he was re-elected to the Senate. Yet in the mean time he had undergone, seemingly as the result of too intense a devotion to his own selfish power and glory, a mental shock which deprived him of most of his forensic powers. His declamation once eloquent, became ridiculous. Each of his speeches was an exhibition of futile wrath, and each of them increased the weight and disadvantage of good and sober men's opposition to him.

Now, it may be asked, did this discredited and marplot senator, this once gifted man who had burned up his moral and intellectual powers in an egotistic opposition to everybody, succeed in obtaining a reelection to the United States Senate in 1916? The answer is found in his connection with the pro-German interest and propaganda in Wisconsin. The same influence which has resulted in his overwhelming "referendum" against American resistance to German aggression, in the German counties in Wisconsin, re-elected La Follette to the Senate last year. Regardless of party connection, the Germans of the State voted to send back to the Senate the man who has opposed the interests of his own country. Not a German himself, La Follette has associated himself with this influence for the sake of keeping in the Senate. He has become more German than the Germans themselves. Not in the passion of his blood, under no emotion of conviction, but in cold blood, showing his end of course egoism, La Follette yesterday repaid the act of his German supporters of 1916 by a defiance on the floor of the Senate of German conspiracy and German submarine and other atrocities which exceeded in its intemperance anything that has been printed in the German press of America.

It was the disloyal culmination of a career of selfish Ishmaelism, this speech of La Follette in the Senate yesterday. It will naturally be the end of him. It will be the end, too, of apology for German murders on the seas, the end of German clouding of conscience and violence in our country; for La Follette, who, step by step, has made himself the enemy of every loyal friend he ever had, has now proved himself the worst possible enemy of the loyal Germans of the United States. Hereafter any cause or purpose that he advocates will be damned. Already the laughter of the Senate, he is now a man of contention to the whole earth whom everyone condemns. He is an example of the self-destructive effect of the basest form of egoism. Standing against his own country and for its country's enemies, he is gone and fallen, and his conspicuous position as a senator of the United States will hereafter serve but to emphasize his fall and to defeat every cause he advocates. Henceforth he is the Man without a Country.

every cause he advocates. Henceforth he is the Man without a Country.

Open the Ocean Lanes (From the Boston Traveler)

Germany, according to one report from Berlin, will not wage war against the United States, but will not abate or modify her U-boat campaign. A disinclining public will give to that statement just as much attention as it is worth. Germany is not, of course, in a position to wage war on this country as war is waged by civilized nations, but Germany in her own way has been waging war on this country for months. Indeed, she has been waging war in this country through her accredited representatives and secret emissaries.

Germany is playing her last card in the U-boat campaign. If she cannot win with that instrument of warfare, she is beaten. This country must do all in her power, as soon as possible, to drive the U-boat from the ocean, and make safe the transportation of supplies to our allies. In doing that she will be doing what she will be soonest equipped to do, for it is sheer nonsense to talk of sending in the near future any huge number of troops to the battlefields of Europe. Armies must be trained, and they cannot be trained in a day or in less than a year.

But the anti-U-boat campaign can be begun without great delay, and it is one that the government, of course, is now preparing for with every resource at its command.

Open the ocean lanes and keep them open! Through the performance of that duty may come peace without wholesale slaughter.

America Calls

(From the Gloucester Times)

Once again America calls to her citizens. And again the issue is the ancient one between free institutions and the divine right of kings.

The President's message to Congress is just what has been anticipated. Every possibility of peace has been exhausted and nothing remains for the country, if it would care for its honor and its rights except an appeal to arms.

The issue is between humanity, on one side and a military despotism on the other, between the sacred rights of men, long guaranteed to them by treaty, and men who would make their will the law of nations, and who in their lust for conquest, pretend to scorn all who would stand in their way. America calls her sons to fight the ancient battle of freedom, menaced again by the last of the ancient empires, calls them to battle not only for themselves but for all the world.

To that call there can be but the one response. This is not a time for party or for faction. The day does not admit of absorption in lesser disputes. With the one great issue confronting us, all else becomes a matter of indifference. We must do our bit to remove from the world forever the menace of Prussian militarism which regards not their God nor man.

The very best response to the vaulting ambition of Germany and her insolent defiance of all law except her own will be seen in the mobilization on the largest and most effective scale of all our human and industrial resources. The hour is at hand. The American nation will rise to it.

LaFollette Not Altogether Wrong

(From the Lewiston Sun)

You do not have to endorse all that Senator La Follette said; his insistence that Senators ought to express their opinions even when they think the President is wrong, is sound. It is impracticable that our position in this war will reach the high risk that it will be the duty of the people, or of their representatives, to just keep still and stand by the President.

Senator La Follette claims that a large majority of the people are against going to war. Even if it were a large minority, they ought to be heard. Even a small minority ought to be heard.

A Duty of the State

(From the Manchester Union)

Let it not for a moment be forgotten that patriotic duty rests quite as much on those who, for one reason or another, are ineligible for army field service as on those who will be expected to bear arms in response to the country's call for fighting men. Many of those who would gladly enlist as soldiers are prevented by the prescribed age limitations or by physical defects—obstacles which do not, however, in most cases, preclude productive labor nor seriously interfere with the earning capacity of the individual. Those who can fight must and will fight if necessary, and those who are not included in the fighting force can and will serve in other ways, among the most important of which may be mentioned paying the bills.

It is something for our military forces to know that they have behind them the moral support of the state which they represent; but it is more, much more, for them to know that this moral support involves financial support, literally and cheerfully extended. Every indication now points to an early call for the members of the New Hampshire National Guard to return to the colors. After their return from the Mexican border, recently, the state appropriated for the Guard, as a mark of appreciation of its services a sum equivalent to $5 for each soldier who has accompanied the flag south. This should not be regarded as a gift to the Guardsmen. They had earned it by their ready response to the call for men, and by the credit which they reflected on the state by their service. They should not be made to wait, this time, until after their return home—and in the event of a protracted war many of them never will return—before receiving substantial assurance of New Hampshire's appreciation of their patriotic sacrifice.

The federal government will pay these men, while they are in its service, only $15 per month and their board. Probably most of them would receive more than twice that stipend by remaining at home, engaged in their regular civilian employment. We submit that the very least the state of New Hampshire can properly do in the premises is to enact at once a law providing $16 a month pay from the state, for each member of its National Guard during his term of federal service; and if any men with dependents are called out, to make additional provision up to a minimum total of $25 a month for these, individual compensation being based on the size and circumstances of the family left behind. We believe the legislature should make these provisions at once. Patriotic talk counts for comparatively little, unless backed by patriotic action. Practice must be made to square with precept. Those who cannot fight can, at least work for the cause, and the additional taxes involved in this proposition ought to be cheerfully paid. No financial sacrifice can ever match the sacrifice offered by these soldiers for their state and their country.

SWISS EXPERTS PREDICT OFFENSIVE IN ITALY

Basle, April 6.—Colonel Egli, military critic of "Basler Nachrichten," who predicted the German retreat from the Somme front, is of the opinion that the Central Powers will not undertake a new offensive on any theatre of war, with the possible exception of the Italian front.

"On the western front, the Germans will surely keep themselves on the defensive," the Swiss expert says. "Although they undoubtedly have sufficient troops for a gigantic effort, there is ample reason for the belief that they will make no attempt to break the lines of the Allies, and I am convinced that they have given up the idea of capturing Dunkirk, Calais and Paris."

"Nothing definite is known of Hindenburg's plans, but all signs point that the great German strategist wants to avoid further large losses. This he can do by holding the Allies at certain prepared lines. I do not doubt that he will order retreats from time to time, if they become necessary to save men. He may eventually evacuate all of the occupied French territory, but that would bring the French and English no nearer to victory than they are, because the most stupendous task of the Allies will only begin when they reach the impregnable chain of German fortresses.

"In the East a German offensive is unnecessary at present, because there is no danger that the Russians will be able to take the initiative into their hands again this year. On the Italian front the situation is different. There an offensive may be undertaken, because it offers prospects of putting Italy out of the war."

"Hindenburg's plans are evidently based on the submarine war. It seems to be convinced that the U-boats can starve England within six months. This is the reason why he wants to save his troops and to avoid sacrifices. Whether his calculations are correct or not the next few months will show."

NAVY NOTES

Will Cut in Saturday

The new telephone office at the navy yard to be located in the administration building, will be cut in by the New England Telephone Company on Saturday afternoon after close of work.

The yard weekly payroll of the civil force of employees has reached over $38,000 and owing to the extra work in all departments will no doubt reach $40,000 in a short time.

Burned Lots of Coal

Over 2900 tons of coal was consumed at the Portsmouth yard each month during the winter. The large consumption was due to the considerable extra work.

Miss Akerman Enrolls

Miss Hope Akerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manning Akerman, was enrolled as a yeoman in the reserve corps today at the navy yard and will begin her duties as stenographer in the office of the commandant on Monday.

Coming and Going

A detachment of "recruit" marines arrived at the yard on Wednesday and a squad of sailors were sent from the Southery to Newport.

Done Well at Exeter

Most Green of the yard enrollment office went to Exeter Thursday on the matter of enrolling students for the naval reserve. He met with a hearty cooperation on the part of the college boys and will return there again on Saturday to carry out the enrollment. He reports lots of enthusiasm on the part of the students.

OBSEQUES

Patrick J. Kenneally.

The funeral services of Patrick J. Kenneally were held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning at 10 o'clock, where a large number of the friends of the deceased were present. Rev. D. Alex Sullivan, P. R. officiated. The interment was in Calvary cemetery in charge of Funeral Director W. P. Miskell. The following acted as pall bearers: Edmund Leary, Michael Conforti, Frank Connolly, David Hartnett, Michael Heelan and David Quirk. A delegation of Division 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of which deceased was a member, were present in a body.

Design B. Folsom Jenkins, U. S. N., is visiting his mother in this city for a few days. He comes from some ship somewhere in the Atlantic.

NAVY HOLDS GUARDSMEN IN ITS EMPLOY

First Line Has First Call on Services.

Those members of the national guard who are employed at the Boston navy yard will be unable to join their units for guard duty unless with the consent of Captain William L. Howard, the commandant of the yard, according to a ruling received from Washington yesterday. The navy, the first line of defense, is considered as having first call on their services.

Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commanding the reserve coast patrol fleets of the country will come to Boston within a few days to inspect the fleet of this district and confer with navy yard officials in regard to the defense of the coast. Commander Alfred W. Hinds of the U. S. S. Pennsylvania probably will command the New England fleet of chasers. He already has reported for duty. Lieut. J. O. Porter, U. S. N. R., and Ensign Charles K. Cummings, a yeoman, have been assigned to his staff.

The committee on public safety is co-operating with naval officers in planning a training station for the naval reserve at Marblehead where the course will be similar to that offered at Newport. It will be chosen also as a mobilization and training center for the reserve.

With the announcement that the Portland Yacht club had given its entire property to the navy for use in coast patrol work, Commandant Rush appealed yesterday for more power boats. Nine have so far been brought to the yard. It is urged that all persons owning power boats 35 feet or more in length offer them to the navy. Recruiting at the navy yard was not quite so brisk as on previous days because of the unsettled state of the war horizon.

OLYMPIA THEATRE NOTES.

Stand by the President! The measurement of what one can do for you is revealed by what he or she has done for himself or herself.

We beg to announce that we have booked "The Mystery of the Double Cross," Pathé's latest serial photoplay. It is to follow "Patrol."

"The Birth of a Nation" is still running in Chicago at dollar prices. Undoubtedly this picture has been running nearly three years in some theatre in the City of Chicago.

Dustin and William Farnum are beginning active preparations to do their bit in the service of the country in the event of war. The two men have ordered a fifty-one foot boat from a shipbuilding concern in California, and they expect to mount a gun on it and enlist it as a part of the mosquito fleet guarding Los Angeles harbor.

We have another supreme program to offer the public on Friday and Saturday of this week.

"The Angler of Anglers" is the principal picture. It is a Bluebird picture and is a picturization of the great patriotic novel, "We Are French."

Since the war in Europe, hundreds of thousands of copies of the story have been distributed among the soldiers in the trenches, because regardless of nationality, it is one of the world's greatest stories of patriotism. It fairly burns with patriotism and to say the least it is a play that thrills the mind and fires the blood.

It is a most timely picture and should be seen by all who can do so.

Mrs. Vernon Castle stars in the tenth episode of the great military serial "Patrol."

We have never yet seen a poor episode of this serial, and the chapter continues with the usual interest.

Dorothy Dalton is featured in the Ince-Kay Bee picture, "Chicken Casey," a play of the stage, society and the underworld.

We announce a "pippin" Triangle comedy with Al. St. John, who was last seen with Fatty Arbuckle in "The Walter's Ball."

The comedy today, "The Grab Bag Bride," is a continuous scream.

HOW THE DECLARATION OF WAR WAS RECEIVED IN PORTSMOUTH

The United States went to war against Germany at eleven minutes past one, April 6, when President Wilson signed the bill. Not that down in your history and diary for future reference. The above important news was flashed over the Associated Press wires throughout the world this noon. The Herald communicated the news to the officers at the navy yard. War orders will now govern every man on the yard; and Commandant Howard is today the busiest man in New England.

The Naval Reserve men have been ordered by wire to report immediately and in less than 24 hours the entire coast will be protected. Our advice to citizens is to keep away from all government reservations night or day, as most rigid war rules are in force. It is no time to take chances.

Miss Call of Kittery has joined the yeoman service of the Naval Reserve. Miss Katherine O'Brien is another Portsmouth girl to join the naval reserve. She has been assigned to the yard steno office.

Forecast for Portsmouth and vicinity—Friday rain; Saturday fair; strong to high easterly winds, becoming westerly Friday night.

Exeter, April 6, 1917.
The police force has been equipped with new service revolvers of the latest model. Target practice was held yesterday on a new range recently laid out on a vacant lot on the Stratham road.

Special officers have been sworn in and the town in future, will be under a more vigilant guard.

Demonstrations of orchard pruning and spraying will be given by Mr. C. L. Long of the State Agricultural college, under the auspices of the Rockingham County Farmers' Association. These demonstrations will occur in the following order:

Monday, April 9.—At the orchard of J. F. Demeritt, Stratham, N. H.

Tuesday, April 10.—At the orchard of C. W. Barker and S. L. Marble, Stratham, N. H.

Friday, April 13.—At the orchard of E. C. Parmeter, Hudson, N. H.

The work will begin at two o'clock each afternoon.

Captain Ross urgently requests that more merchants of Water street show their patriotism by displaying flags.

He believes that the main street of the town should signify the love of the townspeople for their country. To be sure, if a stranger happened to pass through Water street at present, he would judge that the citizens of Exeter were not very patriotic.

A campaign has been started by the local Red Cross Society to increase the membership of the organization.

The county committee has succeeded in arranging two conferences between the men who are working with the boys. One will be held at Berry on April 13th, and another will be held at Exeter on Saturday, April 14th. The secretary of the county work will speak at both meetings.

The Exeter Y. M. C. A. branch held a meeting last Monday evening. Mr. Dana Baker spoke to the boys and his talk was very interesting.

The next meeting will be held next week as usual, when Mr. C. S. Bates will speak. The Newfields and Hampton Y. M. C. A. groups will be invited to the meeting on Monday evening, April 15.

East Rockingham Pomona Grange will meet next Wednesday with Pissasset Grange at Grange hall, Newfields.

The program for the public afternoon session will be: Prayer, Rev. Eldred May, Newfields; concert solo, Mrs. Babrick, Greenland; address, "Responsibility to One's Community," Mr. Dana W. Baker, Exeter; reading, Mrs. Marion Howard, Newington; address, "New Hampshire Agriculture," His Needs and Opportunities, Director J. C. Kendall, New Hampshire college; violin solo, Rev. J. L. Payson, Newfields; general discussion, "The Granger and Preparedness: His Service to His Country," led by John F. Lake; song, "Star Spangled Banner," "American," by the Grange.

The lecturer, Mrs. Ruth H. Drake of Rye, hopes the topic for general discussion, "The Granger and Preparedness: His Service to His Country," will be of interest and that Grangers will come prepared to speak on the question.

Dow, treasurer of the trustees.

Edward C. Chickering of Jamaica, N. Y., a former resident, is making a visit here.

Rev. William W. Hainey of Cambridge, Mass., will again preach at the First Congregational church Sunday morning.

Holy Thursday services were held at the St. Michael's and the Christ churches today.

Probably one of the first indices in this section to receive an appointment of notary public is Miss Lizzie G. Hollins of the registry of deeds office, if coming from Governor Keyes.

Trainer George S. Comors of the academy track team returned from New York last evening, where he has been spending the Easter vacation.

N. H. DEFENSE LEAGUE'S ENERGETIC WORK PLANS

Concord, April 5.—The committee of public safety was again in session yesterday planning the details for the defense of New Hampshire during the war with Germany. The New Hampshire Defense League has held enthusiastic meetings in several cities. Tomorrow night the town of Lebanon will organize a branch of the Defense League, at a mass meeting of citizens to be addressed by Judge James W. Remick of Concord, a member of the executive committee of the league.

Lebanon is one of the liveliest towns in the state in the matter of patriotism. More than two hundred of her citizens have already joined the Defense League, the town is decorated from end to end with the national colors, a home guard is being organized and her people stand ready to answer the call of the governor of the committee of public safety at any time. A large mass meeting will be held in Representatives' hall in this city by the Defense League, probably on Sunday evening, and among the speakers who have been asked to come are the Hon. Channing H. Cox of Boston, a native of Manchester and at the present time speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives. Concord has already organized a branch of the league and its committee is at work in enrolling members.

The league is particularly desirous of enrolling a large number, in order to secure a compact organization of patriotic men and women who are willing to stand behind the government in all its plans for defense and who would place themselves on record to that effect. The membership fees of one dollar received are helpful in paying the necessary expenses of the Defense League and the committee of public safety. The league yesterday contributed one thousand dollars received from its members all over the state to start the committee of public safety on its road financially.

Hundreds of encouraging letters are being received. The petitions which the Defense League circulated, calling upon congress to adopt the principle of universal military service immediately upon the outbreak of the war, instead of deferring as England did, in de-

NAVAL RESERVE CALL IS EXPECTED AT ONCE

Washington, April 5.—The Navy Department is ready to flash the call over the country calling into immediate service the 15,000 members of the naval reserve, and the volunteer naval reserves, as soon as the House of Representatives passes the resolution, declaring that a state of war exists between this country and Germany. This was made known tonight from a statement by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. The Atlantic Fleet is already in commission on a war footing with the exception of a few men necessary to complete the complement, and these will be taken from the naval militia and naval reserve, which number 10,000 and 5,000 respectively.

The department will call into the service at once all the men enrolled in the volunteer naval reserve to man the coast patrol boats and for other duty. There will be no attempt at compulsory service in the navy to fill the ranks as it is not thought necessary at this time. The department announced tonight that 250 men are being added daily to the navy and the naval reserve ranks, which is considered ample to secure the necessary complement to man every ship afloat.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, musty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

FAVOR CHANGE FROM FAST DAY

Stark-Sullivan Day Is Praised by the New York Times.

The proposal to change by legislative enactment Fast Day to Stark-Sullivan Day in this state, meets with the hearty approval of the New York Times which deals editorially with the subject, and declares that such a day would have special patriotic significance consonant with the generosity of the old Granite State in preparing for defense.

The editorial says: "The old Puritan custom of an annual Fast Day, a State day, of humiliation, fasting and prayer, lingers into times unkindly to it. Celebrated in April, it makes but a secular holiday, scarcely observed with solemnity, and not at all by abstinance from or sparing use of food. It is a relic of the Puritan theocracy, kept as a day of baseball and other open-air diversions of a generation much fonder of amusement than of fasting. It belongs, in fact, to the days when there was but one religion and church, the Congregational, in New England, when that was, in effect, the State church."

"Massachusetts changed Fast Day into Patriot's Day, April 19, commemorating the Lexington and Concord fights. It was a happy change. New Hampshire is contemplating a similar one. A bill in its house of representatives transforms Fast Day into Stark-Sullivan Day, the fourth Thursday of April. A good time and a good name for a holiday."

"Farmer John Stark of Londonderry, Captain John Stark of Roger's Rangers in the French and Indian war; Colonel John Stark of Hooker Hill and Trenton and Princeton; John Stark who beat the Hessians at Bennington and was made a brigadier-general therefore; 'or Molly Stark's a widow' Stark, we all know. A fine, impetuous, pugnacious, sensitive man."

"John Sullivan, a Maine man of a New Hampshire family, is not known as well as he ought to be. One of the first brigadier-generals, he led the left wing at the siege of Boston, commanded the American army in Canada; in spite of defeat and retreat was made a major general, was made a prisoner after brilliant service at the battle of Long Island. Released by exchange he was at Trenton and Princeton. He co-operated with Admiral D'Esterade in the operations against Newport and beat the British at Butt's Hill. He left the army in 1799 was a member of the Continental Congress, held important state offices, and for the last seven years of his life was United States Judge for the District of New Hampshire. He was a useful service. His should be a less modest glory."

"It is well for New Hampshire to honor these, her old worthies; and at this time Stark-Sullivan Day has a special patriotic significance consonant with the loyal generosity of the old Granite State in preparing for defense. Her spirit, the American spirit, is the same in 1917 as it was in 1776."

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

YOU CAN BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE WITH SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, besides it's done so naturally and evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-made-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation, or prevention of disease.

MURDER NOT A WAR PLOT

Tokio, April 5.—Japanese authorities assert that there is no evidence that the recent murder of Mrs. Anna von Saldern, daughter of Vice Admiral Edw. von Capelle, the German Minister of Navy, was an act of vengeance upon the German naval chief, and that the murder was committed undoubtedly by a Japanese burglar. The fact that the crime occurred at a time when Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare was holding world interest, the authorities declare, was merely a coincidence. Nevertheless, the tragedy is widely discussed in diplomatic circles.

Anna von Saldern was a beautiful woman of twenty-eight years who passed her time in seclusion near the German prisoners' camp at Fukuoka, the southernmost island of Kyushu. Her husband, Captain Siegfried von Saldern, was one of the most prominent German officers taken prisoner by the Japanese at the surrender of the German fortress at Tsing-tau.

Von Saldern was a member of a well known German family with a seat at Dessau and his marriage with the daughter of the German minister was a happy one. In China, Captain von Saldern was an intimate friend of Governor von Waldeck, the commander of Tsing-tau fortress. After the capitulation Mrs. von Saldern, with her two children, followed her husband to Japan and rented a fashionable Japanese house near the compound in which her husband was an officer-prisoner.

There she lived quietly, rarely leaving her children except to visit her husband and some of his officer friends during their illness. A few weeks ago she suggested that she leave Japan with one of her boys, to further his education and try to return to Germany. Her husband urged her to remain. She consented.

One morning, when a domestic entered, she found her mistress stretched out on the floor of a bedroom lifeless. An electric cord coiled tightly about her neck showed that she had been strangled to death. The police reconstructed the crime in this way: The assassin entered armed with a polished oneshort sword and stabbed her. When she became unconscious or helpless, he cut the electric wire or cord which connected the lamp with a wall fixture and, making a noose, choked the woman to death. There were evidences that burglary was committed.

GIRLS! MAKE A BEAUTY LOTION WITH LEMONS

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is truly marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

VERMONT WANTS FIST-POWER

It was just like Vermont—home of Ethan Allen and the other Green Mountain Boys—to invest the other day a million dollars in leg power and not vote one cent for jaw power.

Vermonters know that they cannot talk the Germans to death. They realize that words today are as ineffective against a battleship as they would have been against the walls of old Fort Ticonderoga 142 years ago.

Fine resolutions warn off no bombs. Grand speeches will not stop the torpedo shot from a submarine. So the Green Mountain Boys of today, as their daddies did in '61, and their great-granddaddies nearly a century earlier, put their faith in the muscle which a million dollars will provide for defense against Germany.

Jaw power erects no barricades, provides no guns, fills no harvests, molds no bullets, and in short, helps nobody but the Germans. The first is what a bully breeds—'Tisn "Gard's" Topics of the Town" in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

54-HOUR BILL IN SENATE'S HANDS

Concord, April 5.—House Bill No. 94, known as the 54-hour bill, having passed the house of representatives is now in the hands of the senate. Senator Threlkeld, chairman of the judiciary committee of the senate, to whose committee the bill had been referred, moved that the bill be taken from the hands of his committee and referred to the committee on labor as he said that the chairman of the latter committee had been in attendance upon the hearings held before the committee on labor of the house and was more familiar with the provisions of the bill than any other member. His motion prevailed and the record of the bill was changed to that of the committee on labor.

SAVE DAD'S LIFE GET IT FOR HIM

Says it is suicide to cut corns and tells how they lift right out.

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that while freezone is sticky it dries in a moment, and seems to simply shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whitening at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.

WILL TURN THE QUARTERS OVER TO GOVERNMENT

Portsmouth Yacht Club Shows
Patriotic Spirit to Uncle
Sam.

At the regular meeting of the Portsmouth Yacht club on Thursday evening the members tea man showed their patriotism in the following resolution which was unanimously adopted and sent to Secretary Daniels of the navy: Resolved: That the members of the Portsmouth Yacht club as patriotic citizens filled with desire to aid our country in its time of need and render any assistance within our power, wish to present to the government through you, the use and privileges of our club house and floats as a base for motor-boat patrol fleet.

The action was taken by a standing vote with a half hundred of the members present, who then sang The Star Spangled Banner, and other patriotic airs.

The department will likely accept the offer of the club when the fleet is fully organized as the floats and club quarters would be very valuable to the navy small boats, which are to guard the coast.
